Burger's book is now out of print, being a most extensive and important study on this period of Ch'ing dynasty cash, originally a doctoral dissertation to the University of Munich. The author has observed minute variations in the general cash issues and from the original Chinese sources was able to establish a chronology on a yearly basis for all the mints for the Chinese rulers from 1616-1735. The second study completing the issues of cash to 1910 was never published.

 The Union Bank of Australia, Nelson, cheque no.68 dated April 20, 1842 for seven pounds fourteen shillings payable to James Cross and signed by Arthur Wakefield, with bank stamp and with two X marks across signature. Paper loss at top right edge, otherwise fine. $140

James Cross, Warden Pilot, arrived at Nelson on the Whitby on 4 November 1841 as a member of the advance party of the New Zealand Company sent to promote the systematic colonisation of New Zealand. In charge was the NZ Company agent for Nelson, Captain Arthur Wakefield who arrived on the same ship. Captain Wakefield was killed in 1843 at the Wairau Massacre which occurred as the result of an ongoing dispute with the Maori chief, Te Rauparaha, over British activity and a land dispute in the Wairau Plains area. This was the first serious clash between the Maori and British settlers after the signing of the Treaty of Waitangi and the only one to occur on the South Island.
