Together with glossy b&w studio photo over tin frame (20x35.5cm) of Pte Darby in full uniform with bugle at his side and wearing bugler badge on right sleeve; Pay Book No.157991 (2); The Australia Comforts Fund Gift Diary 1919 with Rising Sun badge image on back cover, this diary with various addresses and notations throughout.

John Raymond Swain Darby, groom and coachman, age 19, born at Glebe, Sydney, NSW; Enl.23Mar1915 at Liverpool, NSW - physical description states Ht 5 feet 4 inches, Wt 110 lbs, eyes good blue - beside this is written 'Suitable for Bugler'; previous service 3 years in Senior Cadets and 9 months in 5th AFA; Emb.25Jun1915 on A40 Ceramic; 16Aug1915 proceeded to join MEF Alexandria; 21Aug1915 landed at Gallipoli; 19Dec1915 departed Gallipoli and then to France; WIA 26Jul1916, GSW hand and gassed (mild), the wounding being during the Battle of Pozieres and it was during this battle that historian Charles Bean wrote that the German shelling was the heaviest and fiercest of all the campaigns (co-incidentally John's brother Herbert Darby, who was WIA twice, had first been wounded only seven days earlier on 19Jul1916); 30Jul1916 sent from France to England to No.1 Convalescent Depot; 30Aug1916 admitted to Norfolk War Hospital with GSW finger; 26May1917 to 71 Sqn AFC and cookery course, instruction at CFC Uphaven; 22Jun1917 TOS 71st Sqn AFC Sqn from 19 Bn as Cook; 20Jul1917 on command at Cookery School at Tidworth for 71st Sqn AFC; 23Mar1918 married Nellie Larette, age 21, at St Margaret's Church, Ward End; 09Aug1919 RTA on Ceramic; 03Oct1919 disembarked Sydney; Disch.04Jan1920 as Medically Unfit; Died 1930 as a result of injuries received in war service.

In Pte Darby's diary at the back is recorded, 'Bugler/1173 Darby J R S/No 13 Platoon/D Company/19 Battalion/5 Brigade/AIEF/Rifle No 2734/Bayonet No 2734'. The diary begins, 'I was 19 had my b'day at Liverpool in X Company Depot - Bugle'. He describes the voyage from Australia and on 4 July 1915 writes, 'on ship was Orderly Bugler' and then on 25 July 'Went to Cairo - Guard Bugler'. Over the course of the next several days Pte Darby makes the following entries, '31/7/15 Riot in Cairo & shops burnt by Australians the wassar (sic). 1/8/15 Riot in Heliopolis & at Les pyramids (sic) Hotel by Melbourne 24th. 2/8/15 Brigade Bugler. 11/8/15 told to get ready to go to the front'.

From his arrival at Gallipoli until his departure, some of the entries in Bugler Darby's diary include (shown as written without punctuation), 21/8/15 arrived at Anzac at 3.30. In the firing line for first time all well.

16/9/15 took over firing line from 17th Batt.

19/9/15 Church Service - Pasis Gully things rather quite (sic).

26/9/15 Issue of tobacco & papers first gift of Comforts Fund arrives & packet of cigarettes.

28/9/15 Issue of two eggs.

19/10/15 Turk snipers at Hintons Post.

6/12/15 Mail arrived airplane dropped a bomb in the gully in front of our trenches.

10/12/15 Catholic Chaplain arrived in place of Father Murphy.

12/12/15 Church went to Beach all packing up down there. A move of some kind no idea what it is.

At this date a Diary page for the period Dec 13-26 removed and the entries for these days are written in on next page. Some of these are,

Wed 15 enemy Airplanes flying over our line.

16 Waiting anxiously for the word of what we are going to do

Sun 19 All ready packed up to leave left Popes Post at 5.15am left Anzac at 6.30 All quite (sic) punt Bumped a trawler Arrived on HMS Mairs (sic Mars) at 7pm all well

Mon 20 Woke at 4am in Lemnos Harbour landed at 5pm on lighter got of (sic) at 7pm shifted to our camp 3 miles walk - everything alright.

An entry on 31 December 1915 reads, 'Very foggy early morning. Had a drink of Whisky Blew the last post at 12 o'clock & Bugle Marches.'

Another entry near the back of Pte Darby's diary and dated, December 17th 15, makes a request to the effect, 'If Anything Should Happen to me during the Evacuation I want the Book sent to Leo McGroder, 32 Bourne, Enmore, Sydney, NSW Signed 1173 J Darby Headquarters 19th Batt'. From this entry it appears that Pte Darby knew on the 17th that his unit would be evacuating on the 19th.

All of the diary entries for Pte Darby's service on Gallipoli have not been listed but from reading them it becomes obvious that war is marked by periods of intense boredom and deprivations of even the most common day things. For example Darby makes a big deal out of the 'Issue of 2 eggs'. Then there are the weather conditions that have to be endured, from stifling heat through to freezing cold, all with basic clothing and little adequate shelter. Another regular feature of his diary notes is the ongoing shelling from both allied ships in the harbour at the enemy and the Turks firing on the trenches. The latter usually just passing overhead or around the general area, with most recorded in his diary as 'all's well'. For many soldiers these are the stark realities of war that are occasionally broken by an assault on or by the enemy.

During his time at Gallipoli, Pte Darby was the bugler for Catholic masses and burials. After the successful evacuation from there he served in France until wounded. He received appropriate medical treatment and following a period of convalescence he was posted to the fledgling Australian Flying Corps as a cook until war's end. Due to the gassing injury he received whilst serving on the Western Front his life post war was relatively short as he died in 1930. His wife Nellie raised their children on her own. One of Nanna Darby's grandchildren, Peter Clarke then aged 11, wanted to be in a school band so she kindly gave him her 'treasured bugle' that she had kept stored in a trunk, a link to the grandfather he had heard so much about but never knew. He took it to school for 'show and tell' and regularly played it at home, a reminder of his grandfather's wartime experience and hardship. Until recently, the bugle has been on loan to the ANZAC Memorial in Sydney. It is now being offered for sale about 109 years since John Darby enlisted in the AIF on 23 March 1915.

With full service file.

The Soldiers Church of England Help Society was established by military chaplain, David John Garland, in 1915 when he was a senior chaplain. He created Anzac Day wreath laying ceremonies at memorials as well as the Anzac marches and the two minutes silence.

Eliza Ellen (nee Worrall) Tritton OBE (born c1871 - died 1968), a philanthropist, was the wife of the famous Queensland furniture maker, Mr Frederick Tritton. Both of them were born in England but were married in the Holy Trinity Church at Woolloongabba in Queensland in 1889. Eliza and her husband later moved to Clayfield in Queensland where they became members of St Colomb's Anglican Church. Eliza established the parish Girls' Friendly Society that encouraged the learning and development of young members through social events and lending them books from her own library.

She was a founding member of The Soldiers Church of England Help Society mainly involved in fundraising and organising social events. She was also a supporter of a number of philanthropic movements and was on various committees, some of which included the District Nursing Association, being appointed association president in 1937 and serving until 1954, as well as the Clayfield branch of the Country Women's Association and the Queen Alexandra and Margaret Mair homes. Such was her charitable work that she was presented to the Queen in 1954 during her visit to Brisbane the year following her coronation. As part of her contribution to society she would lend her car and chauffeur to help people with their visits to hospitals and those requiring care in their own homes as well as providing her palatial home to host fundraising events. Eliza Ellen Tritton was awarded an Order of the British Empire in 1963 in recognition of her services to the Anglican Church and the community.

Hubert John West DSO, DFC served in WWII with the RAFVR. After the war he was promoted to Flight Lieutenant and then on 01Jan1958 he was promoted to Squadron Leader.

DSO: Fourth Supplement to LG 13/10/1944, p4747 - to Acting Flying Officer Hubert John West (172475), RAFVR, 101Sqn.

Citation: One night in August, 1944, Flying Officer West was captain of an aircraft detailed to attack a target in France. At the commencement of the bombing run the aircraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire. Flying Officer West was badly injured in the left leg by a large fragment of shrapnel. With outstanding courage and coolness, he refused treatment until the target had been successfully bombed and the aircraft had passed over the enemy coast on the return flight. This officer later made an excellent landing at an advanced airfield and then lost consciousness. His devotion to duty and splendid example are of a very high order.

17512 Colin (Hubert) Alan East, RA Infy, born 16Jun1921 at Waverley, Sydney, NSW; WWII Service: 17512 (420121, QX4535); Enl.08Nov1938 at Brisbane, Qld; served in Middle East and Borneo; Vietnam War Service:

Official Duty (from Army HQs, Canberra) 08Jun-11Jul1965 and 25Jun-30Jun1966; Disch.29Feb1976; joins Department of Foreign Affairs; transfers to Department of Veterans' Affairs in 1982; retires in 1986 and serves as Life Governor of the Royal Australian Regiment Foundation, President of the Australia-Papua New Guinea Friendship Association, President of the Royal United Services Institution of NSW and Vice-President of the Royal Commonwealth Society; Died at his home 07Dec1999.

In 1964 Lt-Col East was the first Australian and the first foreign student to attend the Indonesian Army's Command and Staff College (Seskoed) in Bandung. He joined the Army in 1938 as a Private and served in World War II and was severely wounded at the Battle of Tobruk. The balance of his WWII service was in Darwin and as company commander in the 2/9th Infantry Battalion in the 1 July landing at Balikpapan. He also served with BCOF (awarded MBE) and in the Korean War. He completed the Australian Staff College in 1955 and 1957 and also attended the University of Melbourne where he studied the Indonesian language and culture. He was posted to the 28th Commonwealth Infantry Brigade in British-Malaya from the end of 1957 (awarded MID). On 11 November 1966 he became Commanding Officer 4RAR at Terendak Garrison, Malacca, Malaya and the unit was part of the British Commonwealth Far East Strategic Reserve. In 1968 he was promoted to Colonel and appointed as Commanding Officer of 1 Recruit Training Battalion. It appears that the above tankard was presented to him when he was leaving 4RAR to take command of the Training Battalion. Lt-Col East's contribution to Australia-Indonesia relations is recognised to this day by the annual Colin East Award Study Visit which recognises the importance of people to people links between the Australian Defence Force and the Indonesian National Armed Forces.

DOCUMENTS

Evelyn Waugh, famous author, letter dated 5th July 1963 with red printed heading, 'Combe Florey House, Combe Florey, Nr. Taunton', handwritten by him in ink it reads, 'Dear Count Bompiani, Thank you for your letter of 26th June & for the copy of Resa Incondizionata [translation - Unconditional Surrender]. The translator must have had a very difficult task. I am not, as you know, fluent in Italian but I can read it a little. I studied Sr Ceserani's version to find how he had dealt with passages which seemed to me almost untranslatable, and was greatly impressed with his ingenuity. Will you please convey to him my congratulations and thanks. My agent tells me you have succeeded in making Resa Incondizionata a book-club choice. My thanks and congratulations to you. You will sadly miss Cardinal Montini in Milan. What you have lost, the world has gained. Yours sincerely, Evelyn Waugh'. Two punched holes at side for filing and pin-mark at top left corner, otherwise very fine and very scarce.

$1,500

Valentino Bompiani was an Italian publisher, writer and playwright. Resa Incondizionata (Unconditional Surrender) was the third novel in Waugh's Sword of Honour Series.

291

Evelyn Waugh, famous author, signed letter dated April 18th [1950], with the heading and Arms of British Embassy, Rome, handwritten in ink it reads in part, 'Dear Count Bompiani/I was on the point of writing to thank you for the delightful luncheon party on Saturday, when you added to my debt of gratitude by your kind present of the two splendid publications of your firm... The luncheon was delightful ... & for you introducing me to a restaurant which I should never have found for myself and which I shall now frequent. The two books are a triumph of fine printing & I shall always treasure them as a souvenir of the Holy Year.'. Very fine and very scarce.

$1,000

Bompiani is an Italian publishing house based in Milan. It was founded in 1929 by Valentino Bompiani (1898-1992) who was also a writer and playwright.

292
